

TOWN TRUSTEES TAKE ACTION TO EXTEND REDWOOD'S WATER SUPPLY

Will Investigate Pipe Line Proposed to Be Run Through This Section

The town trustees held a lively meeting on Monday night at which much business was transacted. All members were present.

The board initiated its first step toward carrying out its plan of improving the fire protection system of the city by the laying of additional mains. The first unit involves the expenditure of about $12,000. This includes the constructing of a new 8-inch outlet from the reservoir down Brewster avenue to Pothill boulevard, along Topaz street to Roosevelt; the laying of a 4-inch extension on Redwood avenue from Elbert to Ramona street and along Ramona to Roosevelt, connecting with a 6-inch line on Roosevelt, and the extension of the 10-inch line on Chestnut street from Stambaugh to Phelps. Ed Dearborn, the street superintendent, will carry out the work, reporting Monday night on an estimate as to the amount of pipe required for the plans.

City Clerk W. A. Price was instructed to advertise for bids for the sale of the old fire house property on Main street. The money will be diverted to buying a new pump engine for the fire department. The bids will be opened on December 19. On the same evening bids will be opened for the purchase of a fire pump engine.

The petition of property owners residing at the west end of Redwood Highlands presented at the last meeting, asking that the tract owners be compelled to complete their contracts by constructing streets and sidewalks and sewers, went over for four weeks at the request of Attorney W. F. Stafford of San Francisco. He intimated that legal proceedings may be commenced to compel the realty owners to do the work.

Permission was given D. R. Stafford, the enterprising Broadway merchant, to erect an oil station on his property on the corner of the state highway and Broadway, where the Holt Company's branch office is located. Mr. Stafford said the latter structure would be removed. He was given permission to remove the two small office buildings on the corner of Broadway and Winslow occupied by the realty firm of Letts & Witte and the Ford Taxi Company to the northwest corner of Broadway and the state highway. The buildings

BACTERIA CO. SUIT TRANSFERRED HERE

The suit of the Western Soil Bacteria Company against Barlow Ferguson, begun in the superior court of the city and county of San Francisco on July 2, has been transferred to the superior court of this county for trial. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff furnished bacteria valued at $430.34 and that no part of that sum has been paid. Judgment for that sum is asked.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE MULLEN ESTATE ASKED

Margaret A. Mullen has applied in the superior court for letters of administration upon the estate of her husband, Edward Mullen, who died on November 11, 1921. The estate comprises an interest in real estate in the county valued at $2,500, cash in bank amounting to $2,200 and an equity in a plastering contract. The heirs at law are the surviving widow and Margaret, Florence and Marie Mullen, all minors, residing with their mother at 120 Dwight road, Burlingame. Ross & Ross are attorneys for petitioner.

RED BERRIES BEING TAKEN; OFFICERS CAN'T DO A THING

Little robin redbreast has made his appearance in this locality. The recent rains have brought him from his northern home where he spent the summer. He is tired and worn out after his long journey, but will soon grow fat on the big crop of red berries in this section. Not for a number of years has there been such a red berry crop as there is this season. This is owing to the great fall of rain last year. All that little redbreast has to do is to eat, sing, and grow fat, for he has no fears from the hunter. He is not a game bird and must not be shot. He is protected by both state and federal game laws. When springtime comes he will return to his summer home in the north to mate and bring up a brood of little robins to be here next winter to feed on the red berries. Others may not touch the berries, but the robin is privileged.

FAMOUS HORSES ON THE PERRY PLACE

The old Neuman place near the foothills back of Atherton purchased by Mrs. Suzanne Perry of San Francisco is undergoing much improvement according to the plans of the new owner. The old 16-room bungalow has been moved to the rear and converted into a beautiful stable and cow barn for the pure-blooded cattle and standard bred horses.

Bradmont, the star of the stable, is a Kentucky bred horse and has a record of 2:05. He is a great matinee idol at the stadium at Golden Gate Park and won many races this year as well as first prizes at the international show shows this year and last.

Alfred D. is also a pet of the stable, a retired pacer who holds the record at Pleasanton for a quarter of a mile.

Gypsy Velo, from fine trotting stock, was bred and raised by Mrs. Perry.

Tena, a noted trotter, one of the best of the old McKenize stock, will be bred to one of the fastest trotters on the coast.

Mary W. Dillon, a half sister to Lou Dillon, is Mrs. Perry's saddle horse.

Mr. Perry, who rides his wonderful trained stock horse Pietro, will be seen on the roads daily exercising these horses.

Construction on the new bungalow will be begun as soon as the quarters for the stable and the stable are finished. The Perrys intend building the most attractive bungalow in the vicinity. It will be equipped with electricity for all purposes. It is the intention also to lay out the grounds on an entirely new plan.

LIBE SUES FOR LOT

C. D. Libe has brought an action in the superior court against Anastasia Davila to recover possession of lot 71, block C, Mission street tract. The complaint alleges that defendant wrongfully, illegally and maliciously withholds the property. Plaintiff has often demanded the return of the lot but without success. Oliver Dibble is attorney for plaintiff.

BANK OF ITALY BUYS BIG PLACE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Purchase by the Bank of Italy of the Powell street property now occupied by the Hotel Turpin and the "Pig 'n' Whistle" restaurant, subject to delivery within two and a half years was announced this week by A. P. Giannini, president of the Bank of Italy. The purchase was made from the Younger Estate Company, the owners.

Value of the property involved is placed at $1,000,000, making the deal one of San Francisco's biggest realty transactions in many months. The ground purchased has a frontage of 75 feet on Powell street and extends through to Anna lane, a depth of 175 feet, making approximately 12,000 square feet of land. It immediately adjoins the present site of the Bank of Italy's head office at Market, Powell and Head streets and is among the city's most desirable commercial locations.

"For some time past the Bank of Italy has considered the purchase of this property," said Mr. Giannini, but it was not until this week that the matter took definite shape. However, as soon as our decision was made we took immediate steps to close the deal and arrangements were finally concluded. It is not contemplated that any change will be made in its present use for the time being, and in consequence the terms of purchase provide for delivery within two and a half years.

The property is the site of the original Columbia Theater and many of San Francisco's most interesting incidents center around that old landmark. It has been in the possession of the Younger Estate Company for nearly 50 years and its sale to the Bank of Italy is the first transfer during that period.

TO SETTLE SMITH ESTATE

W. A. Brooke has applied in the superior court for letters of administration upon the estate of William Smith, who died on October 21, 1921. The estate consists of two lots with improvements at Montara valued at $500 and personal property worth $150. The deceased had no relatives in this state.

BUSINESS MEN ALIGNING THEMSELVES WITH THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

No Winner of First Prize in Slogan Contest --- Another Effort Is Planned by Committee

Important doings by the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce during the last week are reported by President Towne and Secretary-Manager R. H. K. Smith. Responding to the call for new membership applications have been received from quite a number, among whom may be mentioned the Fox-McNulty Lumber Company, E. W. Calhoun of Sacramento, M. Dove, F. J. Fuller, F. W. Lippmann, George Peterson, Professor Argo, L. F. Prior and others. All the prominent business men are beginning to realize that the chamber is a live, progressive body with a definite policy. There are still several very prominent merchants who are yet to join and Mr. Smith promises their names for announcement next week.

Get on the List
"The pictorial and statistical booklet being prepared by the publicity committee of the chamber is one of the finest of its kind we have seen and will be a splendid advertisement to the city," says Mr. Smith. "The expense of getting out the issue will be very great, so it behooves all public spirited citizens to join the chamber as quickly as possible so as to help both financially and personally. The members' classified directory published in connection with the booklet will go all over the United States, but only business men who are members will be entitled to be listed. This advertisement will be worth untold value to the members and it will be too bad if any of the merchants of Redwood City are left off through shortsightedness or some past grudge against the chamber."

Mr. Smith mentioned one prominent merchant carrying a line of shoes, hats and other articles who made the remark that he with others would have nothing to do with the chamber of commerce on account of some old grievances in the dim past of the chamber. Mr. Smith is a determined fighter and does not hesitate to say that if any of the business men of Redwood City are adopting such a petty attitude that they can count on war to the knife and the chamber of commerce will win.

Only a few days ago a prominent merchant lost an order—small, it is true—but amounting to $40 because he had not joined the chamber of commerce, but expected to reap the benefits of the time, money and the effort other patriotic members are giving to help build up Redwood City. There is no doubt that strong feeling exists among members to patronize the business of fellow members to the exclusion of outsiders. This feeling is growing and will be quite a factor before long in Redwood City.

Circus Wintering at Remount Station Will Buy Supplies in Redwood City

M. E. Golden and M. B. Runkle, showmen of many years experience, who recently purchased the "Palmer Brothers" winter animal circus that became stranded in Palo Alto a short time ago, were in town yesterday. Mr. Golden comes from Sebastopol, where he has large orchard interests. They have leased the remount station at Ravenswood, where the circus will winter. These men plan to buy all their supplies in Redwood City. Hundreds of dollars a day will be spent here for that purpose. They find that they can buy merchandise cheaper here than in any other place in the state. They are making contracts with local business men for supplies up until next March, when the circus will start on a tour of the United States. Fifty men are connected with the concern. They will reside at the headquarters at Ravenswood. A big rig is to be erected where the animals will be trained and where the men will rehearse their parts in the program.

Mr. Golden is a thorough showman, having toured the continent many times with large shows. He has made a success of the business, but retired some time ago to his farm at Sebastopol to enjoy the fruits of his labor. The lure of the road has again brought him back into the business. He is an old California, having been born in San Francisco, but he spent much of his time in touring the country with his aggregations. Mr. Runkle is an old showman from Virginia who knows how to do things and does them. Both gentlemen are highly pleased with the encouragement they receive from the merchants here.

STAFFORD TO PUT UP NEW CONCRETE STORE BUILDING ON BROADWAY

Buy Graft Properties and Will Make Fine Improvements at City Gateway

The latest deal in real estate made by Daniel R. Stafford, the Broadway grocer, was the cause of considerable interest being manifested in Broadway properties when at the meeting of the board of town trustees he made application to remove the two frame buildings now on the George E. Graft holdings to his properties at the corner of the state highway and Broadway.

He has perfected arrangements to take over all of the Graft properties, including a two-story reinforced concrete building to be erected, plans of which are now being prepared. The buildings now on the site are the class A garage occupied by William Chubbuck and the postoffice. For Redwood City this deal is of considerable magnitude and it serves to reflect the confidence of both Mr. Graft and Mr. Stafford in the future of this thriving city.

Mr. Stafford said yesterday: "I

LETTS & WITTE BUY WOODSIDE ORCHARD PLACE

Letts & Witte, the local real estate brokers, have purchased the old Susan Davis place at Woodside from the Franklin Company of San Francisco. The property consists of a six-acre orchard and dwelling and other improvements. It is a choice property. It is to be further developed by the new owners and placed on the market during the coming spring. The deed to the holding was filed in the office of County Recorder T. C. Rice on Wednesday and according to the federal stamps on the instrument the sum of $5,500 was paid for the realty.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES NEAR HALFMOON BAY

On Thursday of last week there passed away near Halfmoon Bay Dr. George Sidney Smith, an old resident of the coast side. The doctor, who had retired from practice, made his home at Seal Cove, where he had erected a beautiful domicile ten years ago overlooking the peaceful Pacific.

Dr. Smith was a spiritualist and more than thirty years ago he came over from Berkeley to locate at Halfmoon Bay. Before coming he had consulted the spirits and they told him that a great tidal wave was to sweep over the College City and that all the inhabitants would be destroyed. The doctor quickly made his getaway, but the tidal wave never came. Berkeley is still intact.

Dr. Smith conducted a drug store and built up a big practice. He was the only physician on the coast side for many years and covered every town and hamlet on the coast in his ministrations to the afflicted. Later he sold his drug store to Mr. Hollister, who afterward disposed of it to Dr. Morgan now conducts it.

Dr. Smith was a temperance advocate as well as a spiritualist, devoting much time to both. He was considered by many to be erratic on these subjects. He had numerous followers who believed in spiritualism, but few who were willing to give up the other spirits.

His son, George Sidney, better known as Sidney, made a campaign some years ago for the office of county auditor against the late William Henry Underhill, but he was defeated. He departed from the county some time afterward.

Several years ago Dr. Smith purchased the property where he died from an English lady and has since made his home there with his wife, devoting his time to his religion and to music. He was the composer of several pieces of religious music.

In addition to his widow, Dr. Smith is survived by two sons, George Sidney, Jr., and Henry Lee Smith, both of whom have been most successful in business and are now at the head of the Associated Pharmacists, wholesale drug manufacturers of New York. During the last illness of their father Henry Lee Smith came on from New York to be at the bedside and was present when death came.

REV. PARKER BACK FROM LECTURE TOUR

Redwood City people are glad to see on the streets again Rev. C. A. Parker, pastor of the Baptist church. He has just returned from an extended trip through the east, arriving home on Wednesday night in time to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his family. During his absence of three months he visited Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Maine, delivering his illustrated lecture, "Touring under Two Flags in Alpine America." He reports that the lecture were received with considerable enthusiasm in both the churches and schools wherever delivered, covering as they do the great mountainous sections of both our own northwest and Canada.

While in the east he visited his son, Harold, who is for a time employed as an engineer in a manufacturing plant in New York City. Mr. Parker returned over the central route and for two days, passing through Wyoming and Utah, was in the midst of snow with weather at some points below zero. From this snow and ice it was a pleasant surprise to pass into the genial atmosphere of Southern California, spending three days in a visit with his brothers and a sister in Los Angeles.

On his journey east he met many who were returning from visiting California and who were delighted with what they had seen on these sunny shores, hoping to return some time for a residence. On his way home he traveled with three or four families who were coming to California for the purpose of remaining. Indeed, all over the east he found the people manifesting a lively interest in California; some who wanted to return to the state, having been here before, and others who had not been here but wanted to come. His lecture increased that desire. It goes without saying that Mr. Parker is glad to get back.

WHO WANTS TO BE POSTMASTER AT BELMONT OR MENLO PARK?

Candidates May Take Examination Soon at Burlingame or Palo Alto to Fill Vacancies

The United States civil service commission announces an open competitive examination to be held December 10, 1921, to fill the position of postmaster at Belmont and Menlo Park. It is expected that appointments will be made as a result of this examination unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by transfer or promotion. This is not an examination under the civil service act and rules, but is held under an executive order of May 10, 1921, providing for such procedure. A vacancy occurred in the Belmont office on April 1, 1921. A vacancy will occur in the Menlo Park office on January 24, 1922. The salary at Belmont is $1,000 and at Menlo Park $2,100 per annum. No doubt there will be a number of applicants for examination. The tests will be held at Palo Alto and Burlingame. Applicants may select either place. Applicants must submit to the examiner on the day of examination their photographs, taken within two years, securely pasted in the space provided on the admission cards sent them after their applications are filed. "Faints or proofs will not be accepted."

MANY MOURN DEATH WM. M. McPHERSON

The funeral of William M. McPherson, who accidentally shot himself last Monday morning, took place yesterday morning from the home of his sister, Mrs. F. E. George, on Stambaugh street. Preceding the funeral were representatives from the Eagles, Woodmen of the World and members of which societies the deceased was a member. At Five Points the members in line dispersed and the funeral procession continued on its way to Saratoga, where all that was mortal of a good man was laid to rest in his boyhood home. The following old time friends acted as pallbearers: Fred Durham, W. E. Gray, Edward Allen, M. E. Ryan, C. I. McKinney and Carl Mabie.

Mr. McPherson was one of the best known men in town, having resided here for over 25 years. McPherson was found in an unconscious condition in the Gray-Thorning Lumber Company yards at Five Points, by Fred Durham, last Monday morning, lying alongside his truck. Dr. Chapin was called and had the man removed to the Quinivieve Hospital, where he passed away the following day at noon. A rifle lay beside the dying man. A bullet had passed through the body, missing the heart by an eighth of an inch.

Just before his death McPherson remained consciousness and told how the accident occurred. He said he was removing the rifle from the seat in the truck, taking hold of the end of the barrel, when in some manner the weapon was discharged. The rifle, he explained, had been borrowed and he had taken it from his home that morning to return it to the owner.

McPherson had been employed by the Gray-Thorning Lumber Company for about 11 years, ever since the firm took over the business and the yards of the Redwood City Lumber Company. He also worked for that firm for a number of years. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Della McPherson, who before her marriage was Della Munro, and two daughters, Gertrude aged 9 and Isabel aged 6. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McPherson, who live at Saratoga, and one sister, Mrs. F. E. George, of this city, also survive. He was a native of Nova Scotia and was 57 years of age.

The verdict of the coroner's jury impaneled by W. A. Brooke was accidental death.

For many years Mr. McPherson was an active member of the fire department.

Mr. McPherson's boyhood was spent in Saratoga, where his parents still reside. The family has the sympathy of the entire community in its sad bereavement.

The last will and testament of the late Father Patrick Heslin was admitted to probate in the superior court yesterday by Judge Buck. Dr. John V. Hughes of San Francisco, a cousin of the deceased priest, was granted letters testamentary. The estate consists of cash and two small parcels of realty. The entire estate is not worth more than $5,000. Joseph Farry, 917 Humboldt Bank Building, San Francisco, is the attorney for the estate.

CONVICTED DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

Jane C. Peabody was convicted by a jury on Wednesday afternoon on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor on the highway at Beresford crossing on July 24. Her automobile collided with another machine. Both cars were wrecked, but none of the occupants were seriously hurt. The jury, which was largely composed of women, was only out a few minutes when a verdict was agreed upon. District Attorney Swart prosecuted the case, while Mrs. Peabody was defended by Richard Whalen of San Francisco. Mrs. Peabody has the distinction of being the first woman convicted in the county under that law passed by the last legislature and the second in the state. The other one was found guilty under the same law in Los Angeles recently. The penalty is rather severe. The offender may be sent to the state prison for a term of six months or may be confined in the county jail for not more than a year or heavily fined. Mrs. Peabody will be sentenced this morning.

SAN PEDRO TRUCKER SUED FOR DIVORCE

Rose Delchiaro has brought an action in the superior court against her husband, G. Delchiaro, for an interlocutory decree of divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty. The couple was married on July 9, 1911, and separated on September 19, 1921. They have one child, aged 10 years. The community property consists of a truck garden at San Pedro valued at $3,000. Mrs. Delchiaro asks for the custody of the minor, attorney fees, a reasonable sum each month for the support of herself and child and a division of the community property. Sylvester Andriano is attorney for plaintiff.

MARRIED IN WASHINGTON

Dudley Pitcher, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Pitcher, formerly of Redwood City, was united in marriage on October 23 to Miss Grace Hayward of Pine Islands, Minn. The ceremony took place in All Saints Episcopal church, Spokane, Wash. Rev. Dean Hicks officiating. Mr. Pitcher spent the greater part of his life in this city. He was born in Halfmoon Bay and is a grandson of Judge J. H. Pitcher of that place. He is a graduate of Sequoia Union High School and spent three years in the engineering department of Stanford University where he made a splendid record as a student. Mrs. Pitcher is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hayward. She came from her native state to Pasco, Wash., a year ago. Mr. Pitcher is head dispatcher for the Pacific Light and Power Company at Pasco.

SPEEDING MUST STOP

It was eminently right and proper that Supervisor MacBain should talk very plainly and emphatically to the county traffic officers in their conference Monday morning. He told them that automobile speeding must be stopped in San Mateo county or a new set of traffic officers would be secured. He pointed out that during the past thirty days there had been seven deaths caused on the highways of the county by speeders. Some of these reckless individuals run on the highways at a speed of 50 miles an hour, something entirely beyond limits of safety.

No sane individual will for a moment disagree with Mr. MacBain in his contention. He is an insistent and consistent advocate of good roads. Not only does he want the highways made good, but he wants them kept well, not only as regards the highways themselves, but as to their sane use. The traffic officers are employed for the purpose of regulating speeders. Of course there are times when law violations cannot be observed, but when they do occur the prosecution of offenders should be merciless, no matter who the violator may be. The safety and welfare of the general public is of more importance than the feelings of some individuals who may have transgressed the regulations provided for safety.

It appears to many that leniency is stretched away beyond all limits in dealing with automobile drivers. On the Peninsula Rapid Transit stages it is the common thing to see drivers carrying on lively conversations with passengers, although such conduct is forbidden not only by the rules of the company but by state law. No instance is known of an offender having been disciplined.

In the matter of enforcing plain enactments of the legislature traffic officers appear to do about as they please. For instance, when certain laws went into effect a year or so since, the traffic officers in state convention assembled decided not to enforce its provisions for a period of 30 days, but to devote their attention to educating motorists. Now it is rather puzzling to one not a traffic officer to know where they get any authority to set aside the laws of the state. Again, it is announced that an educational campaign will be carried on to educate motorists in regard to lights and their adjustment. When the state laws are plain in this regard, if the traffic officers have the right and the authority to set aside state laws at will, enforce when they please and disregard as it may suit their inclination, it is time for the people to know it. San Mateo county officers are no worse than those of any other part of the state. What is needed to make them enforce the laws rather than treat them so contemptuously is just such action as the supervisors of this county have taken. It is high time that these officers should be made to recognize that the orders of the people of the county are superior to the resolutions of a traffic convention; that the safety of the people on the highways is of more importance than an educational campaign to teach ignorant motorists the rule of conduct on the roads. Those ignorant should be made to learn by the infliction of severe penalties. Jail sentences will give them time to read up on traffic laws. So if the officers prefer to be lax in the enforcement of speed and other regulations they had better be relieved of duty to seek employment elsewhere. The public pays them for protection and demands delivery of the goods.

BETTER ENGLISH

It is among statements attributed to Bacon that he said "Reading maketh a full man, conversation a ready man and writing an exact man." Bacon was not a printer. He would have changed the last statement to read, "Printing maketh an exact man." An English bishop who delighted in mutilating the English language complained of the tyranny of printers. The printers had more respect for the language than they had for the bishop; hence they would correct his writing and present it to the world in proper form.

Printing has been characterized as "the art that is the preservative of all arts." Some may not believe this. Printing certainly is the preservative of the art of writing. Printing is the molder of language, the one means whereby written or spoken thought may be preserved in proper form for the enlightenment of others. Early writers were troubled greatly because of lack of uniformity in use of words, spelling and in other characteristics of language. Printing effected great reforms in these lines, caused writers and speakers to be more careful and uniform in use of words, thus making language clearer and more useful.

A short time ago the teachers of English attempted to have a "better English" week observed. The suggestion was made that each person try to correct one error of speech a day. Not very many paid attention to the effort. No marked improvement was made in the use of the language.

A remarkable thing about teachers of English is the disregard of rules shown by them. They know, or they should know, the rules. Yet it will be observed that when they write or speak they show an almost sublime contempt for the rules which they should follow closely. The excuse is given that the language is inadequate for the proper expression of their idiosyncrasies, hence they must mutilate it in order to express themselves properly. They resort to italic type, to wrongful capitalization, to coined new expressions incomprehensible to any but themselves—then plume themselves on their ability to use good English. It is far from that; it abuse of English.

The best writers rely upon their extensive vocabularies, upon ability to combine simple expressions in such a way as to convey ideas with the greatest precision and simplicity. It would seem to be a mark of ignorance, of lack of ability, when a writer resorts to tricks of typography to bring out his meaning clearly.

To illustrate this point consider a few words from a sermon by Rev. T. Dewitt Talmadge. He was preaching on the subject of ridicule. In the course of his talk, without raising his voice and without any special effort, he said: "You may laugh a man out of heaven, but can you laugh him out of hell?" That expression was printed in a summary of the sermon without any special attention being directed to it. Yet it attracted a great deal of attention among those who read it.

A better use of English can be acquired if one will try to use only correct expressions when talking and thinking. Habitual users of slang or profanity are handicapped. When the time comes that proper English must be used the greatest caution is necessary on their part to prevent improper expressions from slipping in where they will do great harm. But the person who makes a practice of using good English all the time is under no such restraint. Good language comes from him naturally and easily. He is not on guard lest he make use of an expression that will offend, for he knows that such expressions have been eliminated from his usual vocabulary.

It is no difficult matter to use correct English. Daily practice of the rule to use no slang, profanity or ungrammatical expressions, including dialect, will soon give anyone perfect confidence in his ability to talk and write correctly. It is a characteristic that should be cultivated by all, especially the young, for an ability to use good English is one of the best things anyone can possess. Why not have a better English effort all the time?

DETERMINED TO SUCCEED

Every utterance in public address or interview by leaders at the Washington conference indicates that the various delegates are inspired by a determination to accomplish the object for which the conference was called—promotion of peace and reduction of costs of military preparedness. There is no country represented at Washington which has signified a resolve to increase or even to maintain its present armaments as at present constituted. There is a disposition among all of them to join in mutual reductions, providing they do not invite assault from their neighbors by so doing.

Great Britain is possessed of a navy far superior to any other nation and had it not been for the Washington conference there is no doubt she would maintain her superiority at any cost. In fact, four big battle cruisers and several submarines of huge type have been designed for the British navy and construction on many of them has already been started. But the spirit manifested by British statesmen from the moment President Harding dispatched his invitation for the conference leaves no room for doubt that the delegates from Great Britain are ready to make very material alterations in their defense programs.

France has signified her desire to co-operate in every way possible in bringing success to the meeting. Premier Briand has informed us that he will use his opportunity to advance the friendly feeling between the United States and France by cordially seconding President Harding's efforts to lighten the burdens of war. France has a problem all her own in the German menace on her northern and eastern frontiers and can never consent to abate her vigilance and preparedness in that quarter; but she will agree to any proposal for armaments limitation consistent with her own safety.

Japan has displayed a spirit of compromise in all that her delegates have said. Apparently there is no disposition to insist on every detail of Japanese diplomacy in the far east nor upon every item of increase in the Japanese navy. The attitude of the Japanese corresponds with that of the other delegations in Washington. They will be found willing to make concessions like the rest and contribute their share to the successful outcome of the conference.

Italy has a defense problem on her frontier similar to that of France, although not so pronounced. But her delegates approach the discussions in a spirit that precludes any thought of opposition from her quarter. The Italian people, like those of other nations, are laboring under a stupendous burden of war debt and are praying for the relief the Washington conference promises. The tone of the statements issued by the Italian delegates assures the world that they will work with the rest in achieving the object of the conference.

The United States delegation has drawn up a schedule of naval reduction that is startling in its extent. America stands ready to cut her naval program with those of the other nations and the reductions that she has outlined are an invitation to the foreign delegates to join with her in a general advance toward world peace. Belgium, Holland, Portugal and China have no such direct interest in naval matters as the five great powers, but they can and will assist materially in allaying the controversies over far eastern questions and will thus contribute their share toward the suppression of war. America cordially reciprocates the good feeling manifested by all the distinguished visitors to her shores, firm in the belief that it presages highly successful achievements for the armaments conference.

ULSTER'S PROTEST

Sir James Craig and the members of his cabinet now in London give it out that there can be "no surrender of Ulster's rights." But this leaves open the question of what those rights are and whether anybody is demanding that they be surrendered. No plan of Irish settlement ever proposed to take away from Ulster certain guarantees and safeguards. She is to have her religious freedom. She is to have her property rights made secure. She is to have the fullest degree of local government.

But just now the plan is to assure her the enjoyment of all these privileges as part of a united Ireland, the north being linked to the south through the common Irish council. Suppose the six counties of Ireland refuse to take a step or make any concession for the appeasement of Ireland. In what position would they stand before the considerate judgment of mankind? They would be, in the first place, opposing the will of 1,200,000 Irishmen to the will of 3,800,000 Irishmen. Moreover, of the population of the six counties no less than one-third, 430,000, is Catholic and presumably in sympathy with the national aspirations of the rest of Ireland. Thus we should have the spectacle of 800,000 people defying four times that number of their fellow Irishmen and more than that, defying England, Scotland and Wales and the great dominions.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
 The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday. At the request of the board made at the last meeting the traffic officers of the county appeared to confer with the supervisors and learn what can be done to improve traffic conditions on the highway, particularly in reference to reckless driving and speeding. Supervisor Hickey stated that the county coroner had reported to the district attorney last week that he had held five inquests during the present month over the bodies of persons killed in automobile accidents on the state highway in San Mateo county. Hickey said he felt that the supervisors should have a report from the traffic officers at least once a month, covering all arrests, accidents or deaths that may occur in their respective districts. Supervisor McBain spoke of the speeding through Menlo Park. He said motorists during the last few months had been making a practice of traveling through that town at a rate of 50 miles an hour and he insisted this must be stopped. Supervisor Hickey told of the plan being tried of having two men work together at night patrolling the highway in the north end of the county in an effort to catch speeders and other offenders. Traffic Officer Bond reported that he had been working with Constable A. S. Landini on this detail for a week, but there had been little doing in the way of violations. He explained the necessity of having a high-powered car to overtake speeders, a motorcycle being of no use at night. District Attorney Swart said he received the coroner's reports and he understood all the fatalities had occurred at night. He favors the plan of two men and also supplying them with sawed off shotguns, if necessary. Traffic Officer Dainoff complained that often officers would not learn of accidents until four or five days after their occurrence. He asked if there could not be something done to compel garage keepers, doctors and hospitals to report accidents immediately to traffic officers or the sheriff. The district attorney said most of the garages were within municipalities and that an ordinance would affect only those outside. He said he would look into the matter and learn what could be done in getting the authorities of the different cities to co-operate with the supervisors. He called attention to the fact that thousands of dollars worth of loot had been hauled out of San Mateo county during the past six months and argued that much of this could be stopped with the proper organization of traffic officers. Following further discussion on the part of the supervisors the district attorney and traffic officers, it was decided to continue the present plan of having Bond work with Landini at night and see what the results are. On motion of Supervisor MacBain, seconded by Hickey, the traffic officers were directed to submit written reports at the first meeting of each month and also to be present at that time to discuss things. County Engineer Kneese reported he had investigated the situation in regard to the building of a platform across the sidewalk in front of a garage at Montara, as instructed to do by the board following a protest to the platform made at the last meeting by R. Stimler of Montara. Kneese found the highway had been laid out so that it is now four feet higher than the sidewalk and that the sidewalk being built to conform to the highway grade, it was necessary to build the runway across the old sidewalk in order to obtain access to the garage. Supervisor Hickey stated he had investigated the matter and believed the garage owner had the right to construct the runway. The supervisors decided to visit the place Wednesday and then decide.

It was ordered that the old highway east of the railroad tracks between Beresford and Redwood City be closed on December 11, the opening day of the speedway.

The previous action of the board ordering the purchase of a lot at Menlo park was rescinded and another resolution adopted calling for a hearing on the subject at the meeting on December 19.

On request of W. J. Grant, who is in charge of squirrel extermination in San Mateo county, it was ordered that the appropriation of $140 for traveling expenses of assistants be continued for six months.

A Mattson of San Bruno was given a contract to put up a retaining wall on a dangerous portion of the road between Redwood City and La Honda at the same unit price at which he did similar work a short time ago. Rummynede people have been using the streets in front of their property for vegetable growing, plowing up to the edge of the paved roadway. It was ordered that signs be posted warning the people that such practice must be discontinued. The board ordered the county purchasing agent to prepare and have printed the necessary blanks for the traffic officers for making their reports.

H. F. La Per claims that the big lot of booze seized a couple of weeks ago at his home at Atherton is all his. He was a barber by trade before taking up his present line. La Per was taken before Thomas Hayden, United States commissioner, in San Francisco this week for a preliminary hearing. There he was informed of an irregularity in the warrant under which search and seizure were made at his Atherton place. Hayden took the case under advisement.

His friends in Menlo Park are proud of his achievements and will be glad to welcome him home.
